'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

Getting around close to that time when every city and state in the nation will start yelling that some mistake must have been made in the census. It happens that way about every ten years.

Chambers of commerce will be using long columns of statistics, including registered voters, postal receipts, school attendance and what not, in an attempt to prove that the census enumerator must have been all wrong when he set the figures for the city's population.

Out of the mouth of babes. The young hopeful was being prepared for his first day at school. While his mother was giving him his final instructions, he strayed from the straight and narrow. "If you should do that at school, the teacher would have a fit," mother remarks.

"Oh, is that what you are having now, mother?" was the innocent reply.

Look through your pocket change, if any—a group of counterfeiters has just confessed that they have passed over $2000 in counterfeit half dollars and silver dollars in the bay region. Now it will be just out luck to find a half dollar and have it turn out to be one of the spurious ones.

It appears to us that there is a great deal of needless worry over the war against religion in Russia. There can be no question to even the casual observer that Russia is aiming to rule the world. If, as most everyone would have us believe, a Godless people can never hope to rule the civilized world, it appears that the war which Russia is making within her own boundaries will aid the remainder of the world when she finally begins to feel her oats enough to branch out in her coming campaign of conquest.

And in case you haven't taken time to look it up, Babe Ruth is drawing a bigger salary this year than President Herbert Hoover.

Fashion experts inform us that figured dresses are all the rage for the women now. Yes—figuring out how to pay for them.

We think the supreme prize of something or other goes to the reporter who sat down beside the telephone on our desk and shouted in the mouthpiece for fully two minutes without putting the receiver to his ear. His look of surprise at not hearing an answer was nothing compared to his embarrassment when it was called to his attention that it was customary to hold the receiver to one's ear while conversing over the telephone. We'll lay an even bet that Cupid is somewhere behind it all.

Hampton Recovery Held Doubtful

According to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bray, of Richmond, who have recently returned home from Moab, the condition of Lyman Hampton, former Richmond resident, who is suffering from a broken back, is practically unchanged. Hampton broke his back in a fall from a truck on which he was loading hay a week ago. Physicians declare there is no hope for his recovery.

OFFICIALS IN ROW OVER BUYING

MARTINEZ, March 17.—A wordy battle between Supervisor James N. Long, of Richmond, and J. H. Morrow, county purchasing agent, and a request by Long that the awarding of contracts for the repainting of the Memorial hall building in Richmond be laid over until the next meeting of the board, featured the session of the county board of supervisors today.

Sealed bids for the work on the Richmond building were opened today with five painting contractors, three from Richmond, and two from Oakland, presenting two bids each. The "A" bids were for the complete work of repainting interior and exterior of the building while the "B" bids were for the work of refinishing the interior.

The Oakland firm of Patterson and Brothers presented the lowest bid, offering to do the entire work for $690, or $200 cheaper than the second lowest bidder, the Piedmont Decorating company of Oakland, and almost $300 under the figures submitted by a Richmond contractor.

Bids Submitted
The Piedmont company bid $368 on the "A" job and $433 on the "B" job. The three Richmond contractors presenting bids were: J. J. Burdon and Son, $660 "A" bid; $935 "B" bid; Lambie and Lambie, $950, "A" bid; $725 "B" bid; Charles Swartout, $986, "A" bid; $636 "B" bid. The Patterson bid was for $690 for the "A" bid. They did not submit a "B" bid. Long requested the supervisors that the awarding of the contracts be laid over until the April meeting in order that he might study the bids and see if it were possible to have the work done by Contra Costa county contractor. At this morning's session of the board, Long introduced a resolution. (Continued on Page 8)

Greets Local Scouts

CHARLES A. LINDBERGH, ace of aces in aviation who shook hands with scouts of Richmond Troop No. 8, in Carmel Sunday. Lindbergh also gave a short address to the local youths.

LOCAL SCOUTS MEET LINDY AT CARMEL

"Yessir, I met Lindy and even shook hands with him."

Wherever friends and acquaintances of members of Troop 8, Boy Scouts of America, congregated with them, this remark and others has been heard recently.

The reason for this is the personal "meeting up" with the famous ace, while the boys were spending the week-end in Carmel and Monterey.

The local troop, which is sponsored by the Richmond Kiwanis club not only met Lindbergh, but shook hands with him and listened to him talk.

The meeting was arranged by Mrs. Mary N. Miller, mother of George Miller, assistant city engineer at Richmond. The boys spent the week-end at her cottage in Carmel, and through her efforts, Lindbergh visited them at the Carmel beach and addressed a few remarks to them.

Lindbergh is visiting at Carmel while conducting glider experiments.

CITY PROMISES COOPERATION ON RAIL CROSSING SAFETY

E. F. McNaughton, assistant transportation engineer of the railroad commission appeared before the city council last night and gave a talk of the necessity of cities co-operating with the state authorities in preventing accidents at grade crossings of railroads.

Notwithstanding all the safeguards that have been thrown around such crossings, the number of accidents and deaths are increasing yearly.

At the conclusion of McNaughton's talk, City Manager J. A. McVittie gave statistics to the council showing that Richmond has an excellent record in the matter.

From 1924 to 1929 there were 33 accidents in which eight were killed. In 1929 there were but seven accidents in which two were killed, both of them pedestrians.

Cooperation Promised

The council assured the speaker that the city of Richmond would co-operate in every way possible.

McNaughton in the course of his talk spoke in part as follows:

"Accidents at grade crossings in California are increasing. Reports to the railroad commission during 1929 showed 2,868 accidents resulting in 200 deaths, and 954 injuries. In 1920 there were but 104 deaths and 260 injuries."

"The year 1929 shows a material increase over 1928 as follows: Year 1928—Number of accidents, 2179; number killed 165; number injured 372. Year 1929—Number of accidents, 2868; number killed 200; number injured 954. (Continued on Page 5)

COMPLETE EXPOSE OF JULIAN OIL LOOMS

REOPENING OF CASE SEEN

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 17.—(UP)—As the district attorney's office prepared today to investigate the "whole Julian Petroleum corporation affair," there was a persistent rumor here that Miss Leontine Johnson would turn state's evidence against Morris Lavine, indicted with her on extortion charges connected with the oil corporation's collapse.

Miss Johnson conferred with district attorney Byron Fitts and Frank Stafford, a prominent local attorney, just before the latter was named special prosecutor by Fitts.

In his statement, Fitts said that Stafford would prosecute "the whole Julian Petroleum corporation affair" but he would not elaborate on that remark.

Miss Johnson, who was secretary to S. C. Lewis, president of Julian Petroleum, when it collapsed because of stock over-issue, and Lavine, a newspaper reporter, were indicted last week. They were accused of having conspired to extort $300,000 from prominent local men by threatening to publish newspaper stories of the oil failure. Lavine was carrying $75,000 in marked money when arrested in the office of Charles Crawford, politician.

It was believed possible that Miss Johnson, should she join the state's forces, might furnish documents and testimony that would serve as a basis for the prosecution of influential men rumored to have been connected with the stock over-issue.

Illmaner's claim to hard luck was made after he returned to the scene of the accident, and discovered that in addition to being crashed into a ditch by a hit and run driver, sustaining cuts on the head, and having his car damaged, someone had stolen his automobile.

POISON JAKE CASES WILL BE PROBED

WASHINGTON, March 17.—UP—Prohibition and public health officials today began an intensive investigation of outbreaks of paralysis in various sections of the country reported to have been caused by persons drinking Jamaica ginger.

Prohibition Commissioner James A. Doran, ordered dry administrators in Rhode Island, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Georgia, where cases of the strange paralysis have been reported, to look into the situation and secure samples of the Jamaica ginger to determine if there had been any violation of the prohibition law.

"Reports on the paralysis cases indicate that isophorol alcohol poisoning may be the cause as no de-naturants are used in Jamaica ginger, Doran said.

"Manufacturers of Jamaica ginger are supposed to use pure alcohol."

"Isophorol alcohol is a 'first cousin' to wood alcohol, but does not come under administration of the Volstead act as it is not a beverage liquid," Doran said.

Mrs. Bertram Wins Quiet Title Suit

Mrs. Wises J. Bertram yesterday was victorious in a quiet title suit against R. A. Valentine. The suit was tried in the superior court of Marin county. Tsar N. Calfee was attorney for Mrs. Bertram.

COUNCIL VOTES ORDINANCE TO CURB FISH CANNERIES

Before the city council took anyone seemed to be of accord.

P. M. Sanford—it is the prevailing opinion that the proposed ordinance is too far reaching, and its adoption might do a real injustice to the city. To advertise that Richmond was putting restrictions on industries might drive such concerns to other cities.

E. B. Bull—It would be difficult for a city to operate under such an extensive ordinance. Industries do not want to be forced to secure a permit before they acquire land sought.

Mayor A. E. Paulsen—My opinion is that the ordinance as it now reads would tend to keep industries away.

E. M. Tilden—Any ordinance that would require all industries, (Continued on Page 8)

CANNERY AT PT. MOLATE EXPECTED TO WIN APPROVAL

A new industry is assured in Richmond. It is to be a fish cannery to be located just this side of Point Molate on the road to Winehaven.

After the ordinance regulating such industries was adopted by the city council last night the formal application of the Golden Gate Packing company, represented by Attorney Tsar N. Calfee for a permit for the cannery was read and referred to the planning commission for one week.

Undoubtedly a favorable recommendation will be made by the planning commission and will be adopted by the council as the members of both bodies have investigated the matter for some time and have expressed themselves as being in favor of the location that has been selected.

Starts At Once

Attorney Calfee states work on the new industry will be started as soon as the permit is granted, and will be rushed to completion so that it can operate by August 15th.

The application calls for a cannery for canning and packing fish and other sea products, to manufacture.

CAPTAIN DIES IN LOCKED CABIN

LA DORADO, Columbia, Mar. 17.—(UP)—The wooden river steamer Bucaramanga caught fire and sank in the Magdalena river here at dawn today with the loss of perhaps 30 lives. Captain Antonio Velez, locked himself in his cabin and died rather than leave his doomed vessel.

The Bucaramanga, a 600-ton stern wheeler, similar to those on inland waterways of the United States, had tied up at the dock here at 11 p. m., on the upward trip from Barranquilla, 120 miles distant. The 34 passengers bound for upriver points remained aboard sleeping.

The fire, believed to have been caused by the placing of oil casks too near the firebox, was discovered in the forward section at 4 a. m. Fire-fighting equipment on the boat was insufficient, and there was none at all in this village of about 500 inhabitants.

Captain Velez directed the rescue of as many of the passengers as could be reached before the vessel was entirely ablaze, and then retired to his cabin. Survivors declared he had plenty of time to save any official papers and leap overboard but he preferred to stay with his ship.

The majority of those who perished were burned to death, although some were drowned trying to swim ashore.

It was not known whether there were any Americans aboard the vessel when it sank. Many Americans ordinarily use the river steamer system in traveling from Barranquilla to Bogota.

In the Twenty-third street district, the cost will be $2 for the midnight units and $2.51 for the all night units.

The contract in the two districts will run from April 1, 1930, to June 30, 1931.

The Business Woman Speaks for Herself

FIFTY-SIX THOUSAND successful American business women, members of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, recently began the celebration of National Business Women's Week.

The purpose—really unusual—of this week is not to sell anything which takes any money out of anybody's pocket, but to sell an idea of use to everybody who grasps it—the idea that the business woman in the United States really has arrived.

She is not any longer an experiment. She is not a novelty. She is not an arguable question. She is a fact. She is a reality. She is a woman who has proved her worth to the country by her contributions to the sum total of American efficiency.

This is the week when business and professional women speak for themselves—beginning with a widely broadcast message by radio from the President of the National Federation, Miss Marion H. McClench of Ann Arbor, Mich. And this is the week when we shall let Miss McClench and other leaders of self-supporting women speak for them in the column.

"Every girl should cultivate at least one talent as a means of livelihood," says Miss McClench. "Whether she ever uses it to earn a living or not, it will be found to be her most valuable asset."

"Keep yourself physically fit," is another of Miss McClench's sound bits of advice. "The physical fitness will not be the barrier to advancement that they often are at the present time."

Co-operation, not conflict between business men and women, is this business leader's ideal. "Too many people," she protests, "expect women alone to purify business, when as a matter of fact they are there to earn a living just as are men. I expect them to contribute a high degree of idealism to business, but I do not expect them to bear the burden alone. The responsibility belongs to John Smith just as much as it does to Jennie Jones. In the business world will not be provided about by feminine ideals nor by masculine ideals alone. Rather it will be a compound of the best ideas of both sexes."

MILLY R. KNEUBUHL of New York, executive secretary of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, offers the following business woman's creed:

"I believe that every woman should have special training for her job. I believe in systematic savings, dependable investments and insurance to afford during the period when women are earning so that they may put by enough to protect themselves in their later years."

"I believe in the joy of the job. We Americans are far too serious-minded. We do not get pleasure enough out of our work. Joyous self-expression, I believe, will help women immeasurably to develop the kind of leadership which is much needed in the settlement of the complex problems facing America to-day."

FROM two other New York women, Marjorie Shuler and Elizabeth Sears, who are chairmen of the activities of National Business Women's Week, come the following definitions of the business woman's relations to her community:

"The time has passed," says Miss Shuler, "when business women can be sufficient unto themselves. Just as we have learned the need of co-operation in world affairs, we must learn it in personal and community affairs. The real objective of Business Women's Week, as I see it, is to give each community a better conception of what a business woman's group means as a resource of that group in projects which make for community welfare."

"Proud as we are," points out Mrs. Sears, "of the growth of our organization with its 56,000 members and its 1,100 local clubs, proud as we business women are of our economic independence which makes it possible to shape a far-reaching program for our group, we are still more proud of the fact that in Public Relations dinners last year we called together representatives of more than 1,000 community organizations to tell us how as business women we could help to make better the world in which we live."

Here, then, are ideas and ideals of to-day's business and professional

You and Your Child

Which Is More Important?

"I ADMIT," a mother said to me, "that I ought to be more patient with my children—that I shouldn't punish them hastily without even listening to their excuses, and that I ought to answer their questions, but where is all this patience to come from? I'm usually doing four or five things at once and rushing madly to the next four or five things that are clamoring for my attention."

How many mothers can echo this plaint? Wouldn't it be worth while to sit right down now and decide which of our many jobs are more important? When Hilda insists upon helping her mother when she is hurriedly mixing a cake, is it more important that the cake be quickly baked or that Hilda learn to respect herself and her ability, through being helpful? Later on in life it will make little difference to this mother whether the cake took fifteen minutes or half an hour to prepare, or even whether there was any cake at all for dinner that night. But it will make a great deal of difference if Hilda grows up to be a self reliant and helpful person.

When Dicky does something "awful" while we are in the midst of cleaning the living room, it may seem that we just haven't time to think the whole matter through before we act. But isn't it better to leave the living room go undisturbed this day than to punish the child unjustly? This neglect will do the living room no harm, but an unfair punishment may arouse all kinds of rebellious thoughts in Dicky's mind and may even leave a lasting scar.

All of the children's questions do not have to be answered right at the moment. We can, when we are too busy, jot them down and answer them later. But answered they must be, if we want our youngsters to come to us with their "big" problems when they are older.

And have we mothers the right to allow ourselves to get all fagged out? Don't we owe it to ourselves and our children to conserve our energy? It is much better for the children to have the companionship and guidance of a cheerful, composed, strong mother than to have hand made dresses and fancy cakes and a house full of useless knickknacks and bric-a-brac. Therefore let us simplify our work and eliminate tasks that don't really have to be done. Then we shall have time to play with our children, to listen to their confidences, and to give them the information they are seeking. Then, too, our nerves will be in good condition so that we can stand childish shouts and laughter, and so that we can see childish faults and escapades in true proportion—as perfectly natural mistakes made by little ones who have not yet "grown up," and who need to be taught.

The Farmer's Advice

By Alfalfa Smith

IF THERE is anything the children of to-day are lacking in it seems to me to be CONSIDERATION.

The main idea is to have a good time and let mother wash the dishes.

If parents would remember that they will not always be here—that the time is coming when their children will have to work for themselves, then they would take some interest in having their offspring EXPRESS themselves in all work, be it at home or in school.

If you have some children in the high school, then it is time for you to take things easy—let the children do what you know to be THEIR DUTY.

The World's Window

By Pierre Van Paassen

PARIS, March. "Aim of Americans"

"If one compares the uniformity of life in America with the prodigious diversity of European life, one understands what Americans look for in the Old World; it is variety." So writes Prof. Louis Rougier of the University of Besancon after a visit to the United States. "Through the subdivision of Europe into small countries and those again into provinces where an independent civilization matured, there is variety every few hours as one travels from north to south. What a contrast between London and Madrid, Oslo, Vienna and Moscow; between the sheepfolds of Bergen and the gardens of Murcia; between the crowds of Liverpool and those of Nice; between the odors of Paris and the perfumes of Rome! There is even greater diversity in the characters of the peoples. . . . In a Parisian salon, in a box at the opera, in an artist's studio, every individual or personality whom one meets has his own ideas on religion, on politics, on the problems of the hour. . . . This is one of the pleasures of which our American knows nothing. As soon as he is in company the American starts either to drink cocktails, to play like a demon or puts a record on his gramophone. . . . This may give an idea of what the professor, who is only one of the hundreds of European observers who go to America annually to gather impressions, thinks of civilization in the States. One wonders what circles this professor frequented in America. And also if it would not be better that some institution be set up to guide foreign visitors around and not leave them too much to their own musings in hotel rooms. If a man is left to himself in a foreign country he is apt to form an erroneous conception of life. The Russians have understood this perfectly."

literary or artistic standing in Paris flocked eagerly. Rakowsky knew what was in store for him in Russia. He could easily have stayed in France or Switzerland. But his convictions urged him to go and make a stand with Trotsky. The price of idealism is a bitter one.

Beards in History

The library of the British Museum has recently been enriched with the acquisition of a collection of volumes which deal, all of them, with the subject of whiskers. All the beards of history, beginning with those of Moses and Aaron, are minutely described and learnedly commented upon. The subject is more useful than would at first be imagined. For certain whiskers played an important role in the history of mankind. The story of one beard, for instance, had a marked influence upon the relations between France and Germany. It will be recalled that the church imposed as penance upon Louis VII. of France that he shave his beard and hair. He obeyed. But he had forgotten to consult his royal spouse, Queen Eleanor, on the subject. When Louis came home from the barber shop that day there was a scene. Eleanor said she thought him ugly and ridiculous. She was furious, and took revenge in the manner of Lysistrata. Louis also got angry. The quarrel went so far that he asked and obtained the annulment of his marriage. Eleanor consoled herself by marrying the Duke of Anjou, who became later King Henry II. of England. No sooner did Henry mount the throne than he wanted to annex to his crown the rich French provinces of Poitou and Guyenne, which represented the dowry of Eleanor. In this way the Hundred Years' War was ushered in. All because a King of France hadn't saved his whiskers.

Exercises for Lovely Hands

THERE is a lady in our land, who, though admittedly in her sixties, possesses the face and the figure of sixteen. Always this lady is gloved indoors as well as out, we mean. You see, her hands are a sight.

A woman past fifty can bring back her face and her figure, but once her hands are "gone," they stay that way. For as yet, science has not shown itself able to perform miracles on the hands. The miracles must be wrought largely by preventive measures.

We have several such measures to suggest. Incidentally, they have rather marked corrective powers to recommend them, too. And something else besides—one can practice these hand gymnastics any time and almost anywhere.

The first exercise consists quite simply of opening and shutting the hands rapidly for periods of one minute, resting the next minute, then resuming the exercise. Not alone does this limber the hands, as well you might expect it to, but it tones and tenses the skin. Truly an excellent stunt for hands that are beginning to shrivel.

Exercise the second goes like this: Hold the fingers of one hand spread wide apart, as wide apart as possible, using the thumb and index finger of the other hand to spread the fingers even wider apart. Change about, so that each set of fingers gets its share of stretching.

Exercise the third is the heavy business of bending backward all the fingers of one hand with the palm of the other hand—as far back as proves painless.

The fourth exercise is what is known as ringing the hands. Just shake the hands vigorously from the wrist. Shake them until they feel as limp as rags.

Now the fifth exercise is calculated to win for us the high esteem of all music teachers, most mammas and every other manager in the country. Exercise the fifth is practiced on the piano or the typewriter, or both. So mind mamma and the music teacher and do your scales faithfully, and all you type for your bread and talkies, type cheerfully and long. Because there is nothing like unto these things for keeping the hands expressive and YOUNG.

In other words—for the sake of those who play neither instrument—it is activity, exercise, which keeps faces lovely and figures lithe and hands a joy to behold—almost indefinitely.

Making Overshoes Wear

O the heels of your rubber overshoes show signs of breaking through? Those high sharp shoe heels are quite apt to cause this and, of course, you want your galoshes to last through the rest of this season.

Get some strong material like sheet fibre or sole leather, cut it to fit perfectly inside the overshoe heel and fasten it with rubber cement. This will reinforce the heel and lengthen the service of the overshoes.

If this precaution is adopted when the overshoes are new the reinforced heel will resist the constant wear of the shoe heel, and if necessary a new protective layer may be applied and the life of the overshoes be prolonged considerably.

An Ambassador At Home

PANAMA. Istrati, the Roumanian novelist who writes such excellent French, that he would long ago have been chosen member of this or that academy were it not that he holds such bourgeois institutions in complete contempt, tells in his book dealing with a three-year sojourn in Russia in what condition he encountered Christian Rakowsky, once Soviet Ambassador in Paris and a man whom everybody regardless of politics respected for his vast erudition, his culture and pleasant manners. It will be recalled that Rakowsky belonged to the Trotsky opposition and that he was recalled to Moscow and sent into exile. Istrati found him occupying a bare room in a ramshackle hotel in a village, completely out of touch with the world. He was a sick man when he left Paris, and although a medical doctor of some standing, Rakowsky was growing constantly worse, as the authorities refused to send him to France or Germany for the treatment his physical condition required. Notwithstanding, when Istrati saw him he was working away on a "Life of Saint Simon," which he hoped would be published some day after his death, outside Russia, so as to secure a little income for his children. But Istrati does not mention Mme. Rakowsky, the lady who was the centre of a salon at the Red Embassy for three years, to which everybody of

RUDY (HIMSELF) VALLEE

RUDY VALLEE has just written a book called "Vagabond Dreams Come True." Ladies will faint away reading this volume. Even the punctuation marks have sex appeal.

Why waste your time reading Dr. Eliot's five-foot shelf of books when you can get Rudy's volume and Peggy Joyce's memoirs and learn all you need to know?

To ally the suffering of unfortunate women who lost out in the rush for Rudy's first book, we are offering his life, condensed, till the second printing reaches the book stores. Cut this out, paste it under your pillow and you will have sweet dreams.

THE HISTORY OF RUDY VALLEE.

(In one capsule, to be taken before sleeping.)

I was born near Portland, Me., and at the age of three months started crooning to my toes. As a youth I played post office without knocking any one dead, and did not realize I might have sex appeal.

Finishing high school I looked around for work. I had a chance for a job in a drug store and decided to become a pharmacist. At that time Maine was a prize Prohibition State, and running a drug store wasn't a bad trade. However, I soon found out I would never be a successful druggist.

One night a customer came into the drug store and asked for crab meat salad sandwich. I gave her aliced chicken on rye bread by mistake, and the Board of Pharmacy threatened to revoke my license for carelessness. So I paid the first fine I had on a record, I soon found out I would never be a pharmacist.

At college I felt inspired by the great heroes of Yale like Hinkley, Shewlin and Coy, so determined to go out for football. I tried playing halfback for a while, but did not like the savage way they tackled me. I decided I would rather have women throwing themselves at my feet than a lot of tough athletes in padded jerseys. So I gave up football to be a cheerleader.

That was my first experience with a megaphone when I took up cheer leading. It was the start of my career. If I could command 5,000 men through a megaphone, I thought, what couldn't I do with 10,000 women? I was sorry I had not gone to Vassar.

When the football season was over I turned to my books. The first volume I opened was by Elinor Glyn. She described that "it" was and decided to develop some person charm myself. I read an advertisement on how to be the head man at gay parties, so sent along the coupon and $2 deposit on a saxophone.

As soon as I mastered the scale on this instrument I started developing sax appeal in large quantities, and looked about for more coaxes to conquer. Pretty soon I had a whole band of my own and went to Broadway to finish my education.

One night I crooned through a microphone and the next day I got so much fan mail I thought I was Santa-Roe-buck. I opened all those fan letters and received 8,000 orders for locks of my hair. I knew I was made.

And that is about all there is to my life up to date. Except I might add in conclusion that the buttercup is my favorite flower and I think prosperity is right around the corner.

The secrets of perfect chicken pot pie are desired by a new home-maker. Her liking for the plain, old-fashioned way of cooking chicken impels her to attempt a pot pie while chickens are reasonably priced.

Candle simmering in a closed pot, intelligent seasoning of the chicken and liquid, light and quick mixing of the dumpling materials, and steaming twelve minutes without raising the cover constitute the major secrets. The touch of this or that each cook adds to the pot pie makes up the minor secrets.

Plucky, light dumplings with tender chicken and gravy, seasoned with onion, parsley, celery leaves, green pepper, salt, pepper, paprika, and a little cream or butter taste particularly good in March.

CHICKEN POT PIE

Four or five-pound chicken
Salt and pepper
Two tablespoons flour
Two tablespoons chicken fat or lard
Hot water to cover chicken
Bay leaf, parsley sprig
One small onion, sprinkle of thyme
Handful of celery leaves
Simmering time: One and one-half to three hours, according to chicken
Two cups sifted flour
Four teaspoons baking powder
One-half teaspoon salt
Three-fourths to one cup milk
Steaming time: Twelve minutes
Servings: Six

The chicken is really stewed for the pot pie, although the result is more pleasing than the usual stew. Brown the chicken before it is simmered in water is suggested, or the pieces of seasoned chicken may be stewed and then removed from the liquid and fried until brown and crisp. The dumplings and the gravy are served separately in the latter.

The chicken, cut for fricassee by the butcher, is washed quickly in running water, wiped dry with an absorbent towel or paper and seasoned with salt and pepper and rolled in flour. Heat the fat in a frying pan and add the flour chicken, a few pieces at a time, and fry until brown on all sides. Remove to the stewing kettle with tight-fitting cover.

Cover the chicken with boiling water and add the bayleaf, parsley sprig, small whole onion and a sprinkle of thyme and the celery leaves. Place the cover on the kettle and simmer gently until tender, from one and one-half to three hours, depending upon the age of the chicken.

When the chicken is tender remove bayleaf, onion and the herbs, season the liquid to taste and add some butter or a little cream to enrich it. For dumplings there should be plenty of liquid, rather thin in consistency. Shortly before dinner is to be served the dumplings are mixed and set steaming.

Sift the flour, baking powder and salt into a mixing bowl and stir in enough of the milk to make a soft dough. This will drop from a spoon. Have the liquid boiling and quickly drop the dough from a teaspoon into the boiling liquid. Cook the dumplings each spoonful in the liquid. Cover closely and let steam twelve minutes without uncovering. The heat should be steady but moderate, otherwise the pot pie boils over and the dumplings scorch. At the end of the twelve minutes open the kettle. Serve the chicken pot pie the morning the dumplings are ready.

ECLIPSE LODGE LAYS PLANS FOR '49 CAMP

The wild, woolly west of the gold rush days, is rapidly becoming evident on the ground floor of the Odd Fellows hall, in preparation for the '49 camp to be held there Thursday, Friday and Saturday, by the Odd Fellow affiliations in Richmond.

Members of the Eclipse lodge of Odd Fellows and the Contra Costa encampment are assuming the aspects of grizzled miners of the days of '49.

Following the meeting last night, members of the Eclipse lodge paraded about town, attired in overalls, chaps, knee boots, and one and all with several weeks' growth of beard bristling on their faces.

The display windows of the ground floor have been decorated in keeping with the camp, with picks, shovels, skulls, skeletons, gold nuggets, mining pans, brush, and even a wild cat all attractively displayed.

The '49 celebration will be opened Thursday night with a mammoth parade starting at 7:30. The parade will start at Twenty-third street and Macdonald avenue, thru the center of town to Sixth street, and back to the Odd Fellow's hall where the camp will be opened to the public.

Jack Paeth, a member of the Eclipse lodge, is carrying off all honors in the whiskering contest with a six weeks' growth of stubble on his face. Attired in a complete mining outfit, Paeth will ride down the streets of Richmond Thursday night on an old fashioned bicycle with his reddish brown beard flowing in the breeze. If there is a breeze.

If there is not a breeze Thursday night, Paeth declared he would create a breeze with the speed he is intending to make on his ancient velocipede.

Eclipse lodge was visited last night by Aaron lodge of Oakland, which attended in a body. The visitors pronounced themselves impressed with the extensive preparations under way to make the camp a success.

NEGRO SONGS IN 'HALLELUJAH' PICTURE

Every type of characteristic negro music was incorporated by King Vidor in "Hallelujah" when this all-talking picture, which opens today at the Fox-California theater, was put into production at the Metro Goldwyn Mayer studio.

Recognizing the tremendous value of a native musical background in this story of negro life, Vidor made a special effort to select players for the leading roles of the film who were qualified to sing individual numbers as well as interpret their parts before the camera.

For example, Daniel Haynes, who has the male lead in the picture, was understudy for Jules Bledsoe in Ziegfeld's "Show Boat" when he was signed by Vidor to go to the coast. Nina Mae McKinney, the 17-year-old feminine lead of "Hallelujah," attracted considerable attention by her clever singing and dancing in "Blackbirds," the colored musical success before Vidor signed her. Fannie Belle de Knight, the Southern mammy of the photoplay, was at one time a singer, and has appeared on the stage in parts requiring talent of this kind. Harry Gray, 86-year-old negro who was chosen for a featured part in the film when Vidor met him by chance in New York, is said to have a splendid natural voice which he uses to advantage in his role. Victoria Spivey was well known as a cabaret singer and recording artist when chosen for a part in the picture.

As technical supervisor of the music of the picture, which includes such famous spirituals as "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot" and "Going Down to the Water," Vidor engaged Eva Jessye, director of the Dixie Jubilee Singers.

Irving Berlin contributed two new songs, "The End of the Road" and "Swanee Shuffle," to be used in the cabaret and cotton market sequences of "Hallelujah," while other modern syncopated melodies, work songs, hymns and "blue" songs were used in the proper atmospheric setting throughout the photoplay.

Also on the program is a Laurel and Hardy talking comedy entitled "They Go Boom."

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

Citizens Score Mail Delivery

JEFFERSON, N. Y.—Public-spirited citizens of this Schoharie county community are aroused because of the fact that only one mail delivery daily is made, whereas 20 years ago, there were three. What with automobiles and airplanes and other modern means of travel, one mail delivery a day is entirely inadequate and not up to the standard of these days, the village folk contend.

BURGLARS LOOT MIRA VISTA STORES

Whiskey and narcotics, valued at $250 and $40 in cash comprised the loot of burglars who broke into a drug and grocery store at San Pablo and Barrett avenues some time Sunday night.

Police declare the work was done by accomplished cracksmen, as the safe, containing the narcotics and whiskey in the drug store, was blown in such a manner that only three bottles of whiskey were broken.

The pharmacy is operated by Reil Juel and the grocery store by J. H. Sargent. Thirty dollars was estimated as the amount taken from the grocery.

Investigation yesterday morning revealed that the burglars first attempted to obtain entrance to the drug store, by throwing a rock through a glass door at the side.

The heavy glass plate, however, did not shatter, and they were forced to break a glass door in a vacant store at the rear of the pharmacy.

From there, the burglars, evidently misjudging their direction, hacked a hole in the wall of the grocery. Before hacking another hole into the pharmacy, they helped themselves to the contents of the cash register.

In the drug store, the intruders set to work on the safe, blowing the door open by placing nitroglycerine in the lock of the safe, padded with cotton and held in place by means of a paste made of soap. The load was set off with batteries and the sound of the explosion deadened by sacks and large pieces of burlap.

Investigation and a check up of the missing narcotics showed that the men were evidently well versed in narcotics, as the higher powered drugs were sorted out from the weaker medicinal tablets.

Large quantities of morphine, codeine and an ounce of opium was taken, as well as several cases of hypodermic tablets.

The looters entered the front of the store only to clean out the cash register of approximately $10. Their escape was apparently made by way of a side door which they were able to unlock from the inside.

The burglars either did not bother to turn out the electric night light, or were careful to turn it on again when they left, as it was still burning when Juel opened the store yesterday morning.

According to police, there were few clues with the exception of a number of fingerprints.

Reckless Driver Fined $200 Here

Keith W. Grover of Bay Point was fined $200 and given a suspended sentence of 90 days when he appeared before Police Judge C. A. Odell on a charge of reckless driving yesterday.

According to police reports, Grover was arrested after his car had nearly turned over when he tried to turn into Macdonald avenue from San Pablo at a high rate of speed Sunday night. His car careened over the sidewalk, according to police, but finally righted itself and Grover continued down Macdonald avenue at 40 miles an hour. He was held in jail all Sunday night and released after paying his fine yesterday.

2 LOCAL MEN IN FREAK CRASH

BERKELEY, March 17.—Literally strewn the streets with wreckage, six automobiles crashed together in a continual series of accidents at San Pablo avenue and Blake street yesterday, with the result that four persons were arrested and two others were seriously injured. Two Richmond men although neither were jailed nor injured, figured in the series of collisions. They are Tom Cenzemmen, 1411 Ninth street and Joe Scalines, 621 Thirtieth street.

Those under arrest are: Kenneth Amundsen, 23, of 2539 McGee avenue, charged with driving while drunk, bail set at $1000; Robert W. Gardner, 41, 1105 Forty-fifth street, Emeryville, charged with reckless driving; Robert C. Mosley, 22, of 1826 Curtis street, Berkeley, charged with driving while drunk, bail set at $1000; Walter Amundsen, brother of Kenneth, charged with being drunk in a public place.

According to police reports, Kenneth Amundsen's car started the proceedings by crashing into the rear of a truck driven by Frank C. Fosse, 1727 Cedar street, Berkeley. Police records show that Amundsen's car contained a party which included five girls.

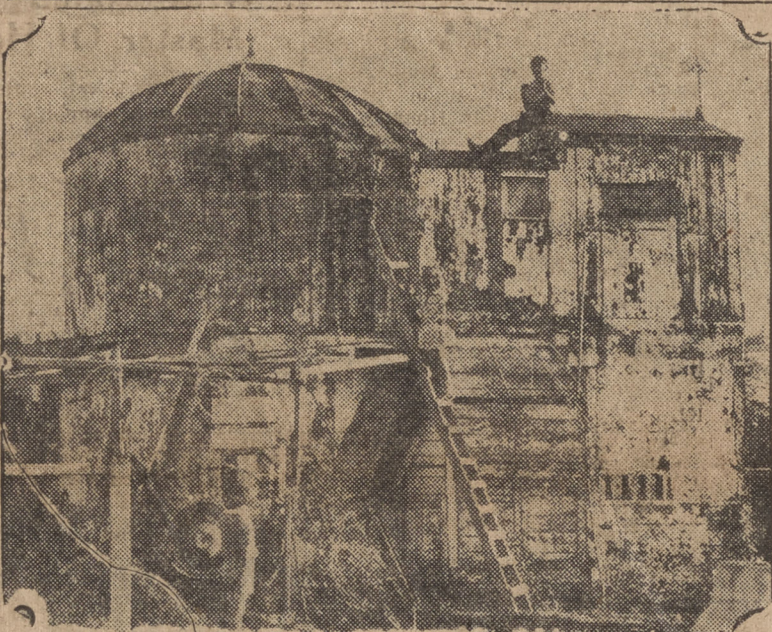

One of these, Florence Schooley, 21, of 1131 Washington street, Alameda, received a dislocated jaw and severe cuts and bruises. Walter Amundsen suffered severe cuts and bruises.

Witnesses declared that Amundsen's machine was traveling at a high rate of speed.

After Amundsen's machine struck the truck driven by Fosse, Cenzemmen who was driving by, halted to investigate. While investigating, his machine was struck by one operated by Scalines, which was in turn struck by Mosley's car. During the excitement an unidentified coupe was struck by Gardner's automobile.

EL CERRITO DEMANDS KEY CARS STOP AT POTRERO, SAN PABLO

Unless the Key System Traction company stops its street cars before making the turn at Potrero and San Pablo avenues, action will be taken to force them to do so, it was indicated at the session of the El Cerrito city council Monday night.

Chief of Police R. R. Cheek reported to the council that he had conferred with officials of the Key System and that they declared they were perfectly willing to order all street cars to stop on San Pablo avenue before making the turn. But however, if the traction company does this the city must install a new type raised safety zone at the intersection and the street car will not stop after making the turn.

Members of the city council declared, however, that they were not in favor of the installation of the raised zone. After a short debate, the matter was turned over to City Attorney Ernest Peters who will study the matter before making a decision.

A complaint received from the Stege Sanitary district that an unsanitary condition exists at Clayton street, between Lincoln and Central avenues was referred to Health Commissioner Charles Zimmerman who will make his report at the next meeting.

Installation of a safety sign on San Pablo avenue was referred to Councilman Charles Zimmerman for one week.

Councilman Zimmerman reported that he had investigated the condition of a culvert at San Pablo and Potrero avenues and reported that the culvert should be widened and cleaned out. The motion was adapted by the council.

Investigation of a report that a number of orchard trees were burned when city employees burned off weeds was postponed for one week. Councilmen Phil A. Lee, J. T. Beck and Charles Zimmerman will investigate.

Installation of a culvert at Hill street and Key boulevard to take care of flood waters was recommended by Councilman Charles Zimmerman. The council passed a motion to have the city engineer estimate the cost of installing the culvert.

Councilman Peter Larsen asked what had been done in regard to the tearing down of unsightly shacks along San Pablo avenue. City Attorney Ernest Peters replied that there was no legal way in which the shack owners could be forced to tear them down.

Mayor E. E. O'Brien reported that he is working on the proposition and that within a short time the shack should be down.

Actress Files Suit Against Equity Group

SAN FRANCISCO, March 17.—UP—Actors Equity association was sued for $150,000 by Edith Ransome-Tondeleyo of the stage play "White Cargo"—here today.

The suit filed by Miss Ransome charged that Actors' Equity association and its western representative, Theodore Hale, were responsible for her four year absence from the stage.

She asserted in the complaint that the defendants were responsible for "unpleasant publicity" that has prevented her from securing a position.

Specifically the suit charged that by threatening a strike Equity has forced the Columbia circuit to cancel a 40 to 80 week contract Miss Ransome claimed she had arranged at $500 a week.

The actress will go into Superior court here again Tuesday to prosecute another action, her $100,000 damage suit against Richard Tucker, actor.

Miss Ransome originally filed this suit against Tucker, Lionel Samuels theater man, and others. She was awarded $20,000 from Samuels by default. When she tried to collect last week Samuels declared under oath he had no money and Miss Ransome's first court victory therefore failed to aid her financially.

The chief grievance Miss Ransome listed in the older suit was the allegation that she was forcibly evicted from a local theater after being dismissed from the cast of "White Cargo."

"An analysis of the reports for year of 1929 shows that 1509 of the 2846 accidents, or 52 percent happening at crossings protected by wigwags or otherwise specially protected. Many of these are due to carelessness or inattention on the part of motorist in not obeying wigwag or flagman arning."

"The last state legislature took cognizance of the serious situation existing and by Section 114 of Motor Vehicle act, effective August 14, 1929, required as follows:

"Sec. 114.—Railroad warning signals must be obeyed. Whenever any person driving a vehicle approaches a highway and interurban electric or steam railway grade crossing and a human flagman or a clearly visible electrical or mechanical signal or car, it shall be unlawful for the driver of the vehicle to fail to bring the vehicle to a complete stop within 50 feet but not less than ten feet of the nearest railway tracks before traversing such grade crossing."

"It shall be unlawful for the driver of a vehicle to traverse a grade crossing when a human flagman gives or continues to give signal of the approach or passage of a railroad train or car."

"The enforcement of this law, together with the modernization and improvement of railroad signals, should tend to reduce the number of accidents at crossings."

The executive committee of the Associated Students has tentatively approved the trip. Edgar Neimur, Phi Beta Kappa student, captain of the wrestling team, and coast intercollegiate champion in the 138-pound class, and E. W. Mattson, 158-pound title holder, have been named as the probable members of the three-man team, by Coach H. A. Stone.

J. W. Long Sets Bowling Record

What is probably the season's record for local bowlers was made by Dr. J. W. Long of Richmond recently in a practice match in Oakland. Long succeeded in making scores of 236, 245, and 279, for three consecutive games giving him a total of 760 points. A perfect 300 score was spoiled in the last game by a toppling pin.

Clarence Kalin of Richmond also played at the practice contest, and was credited with a neat score.

Beavers Defeat Bronco Players

SAN JOSE, March 17.—UP.—Scoring five runs in the first two innings, the Portland Beavers coasted to a 13 to 3 victory over University of Santa Clara in a practice game here today. Manager Larry Woodall used four pitchers and was still unsatisfied with the strength of his batters against curve balls.

WHY WORRY?

COREY 9 BEATS VACAVILLE TEAM

The Vacaville nine, last year's North State league titlist, was humbled 4 to 2 by the fast Corey Garage team Sunday on the El Cerrito diamond.

A new treasure was discovered by the Corey's in Sunday's battle. The newly found treasure is Brendel, a chucker. The position left vacant by Johnny Babich was completely filled by Brendel, who easily subdued the warlike swatters from Vacaville. Brendel was picked for only ten hits, few of which were long, hard drives.

The local basemen and fielders were functioning to perfection Sunday, while the Vacaville athletes were unable to do little in the way of real baseball.

The most consistent hitter for the Garagemen Sunday was Chambers, who collected a three and two, bigger. Chambers also played a sensational game at first base.

The Corey outfit was rather dismayed a week ago over the loss of their sensational battery, Babich and Rosano. However, it seems as if the Garagemen are going to succeed in returning to their old form. With Brendel in the box, and Sam Miguel behind the plate, the Corey aggregation need have no fear during the coming season.

The Corey's will probably play the Gonzales Tires of Oakland next Sunday at El Cerrito.

The box score of Sunday's game is as follows:

Bear Crew To Compete In Eastern Meet

BERKELEY, March 17.—The University of California crew will go to Lake Carnegie in June prior to the Poughkeepsie regatta to meet Princeton and Navy crews in a triangular race.

Plans for the trip are now being discussed following definite acceptance Wednesday night by the student executive committee of an invitation from Princeton. The race is scheduled for June 14, and comes two weeks before the annual intercollegiate regatta on the Hudson.

Athletic authorities believe that the extra competition afforded by the Princeton-California-Navy race will aid materially in preparing the Bear oarsmen for the championship race.

Solons Return After Beating

SACRAMENTO, March 17.—UP.—The Sacramento Senators returned to Mordred Field here today to resume practice, placing particular emphasis on the hitting. Although defeated in exhibition contests with Oakland over the weekend, the club's leaders said they were satisfied with the way the club performed.

SOCCER CLUB IN SEMI-FINALS

Richmond's soccer club qualified to compete in the semi-finals of the Junior Eastbay Soccer league by swamping the Turnverins 4 to 0 Sunday at Nicholl park.

The local soccer athletes displayed a brand of playing that completely bewildered the Turnverins from Oakland. In spite of a stubborn defense presented by the Turnverins, the Richmond boys maintained a battering offensive in Oakland territory.

The Richmond counters were made by Bill Fewins, Harley Long, Lee Grice and Ed Hood.

Richmond is now all set to participate in the semi-finals of the Eastbay Junior Soccer league. Its opponents in next Sunday's battle will be decided tonight when delegates of the various league teams attend a weekly meeting in Oakland.

Richmond's hopes of victory have never been so bright as at the present time. It has successfully disposed of all the league teams except the Phoenix eleven at least once during the past season. The Phoenix squad is now Richmond's biggest threat.

Sunday's contest was a repetition of the previous Sunday's game at Nicholl park. The Turnverin managers demanded that the game

S. O. Riflemen Defeat Albany In Close Shoot

The first local rifle meet of the season was captured by the Standard Oil riflemen in spite of close opposition by the Albany Rifle club Sunday, at the Standard Oil Rod and Gun club.

The final score of the meet was Standard Oil 1106, Albany 1087. The meet was the qualification round for course C. The following was the program for the meet: 10 slow shots at 200 yards; 10 rapid fire at 200 yards; 10 slow, sitting, at 300 yards; ten slow, prone, at 300 yards; and 10 rapid fire at 300 yards, with all scores being made out of a possible 250.

The Standard Oil Gun club will again go into action in the North Bay Rifle association when it meets the Pabco Roofers Apr. 6, at the Rod and Gun club.

The individual scores for Sunday's contest were: Standard Oil: T. S. Flint, 226; J. M. Thompson, 224; F. Dunning, 223; T. T. Schulze, 219; and W. L. Ingraham, 214.

Albany: R. V. Martin, 222; Fred Butler, 221; L. R. Clark, 218; M. G. Ljotic, 214; and J. Fratis, 212.

be repeated, claiming that an ineligible player had taken part for Richmond in the previous game. Richmond defeated the Oaklanders 2 to 1 in the former contest.

Net Matches Here Fail To Alter Standings

Sunday's matches in the Richmond ladder tennis tournament failed to change the standings of the athletes participating in the tournament.

1. Sitten defeated A. S. Remell 9 to 7, 3-6 and 6-1, while F. Childs lost to John Murdock by scores of 6-3 and 6-1. Kruger took H. Bill into camp with a score of 63, 3-6, and 7-5, while Joe Zink conquered B. Childs 6-1, 4-6 and 6-4.

In the doubles, B. Peterson and F. Childs lost to Irwin and Darrow Sutton by scores of 6-0, 3-6 and 6-4.

In the women's tourney, Jennie Stark defeated Cecilia Desmond 6-1, 6-1.

The following singles matches have been scheduled for next Sunday:

Phil Carlin vs. C. Peterson; Warren Truitt vs. F. Childs; C. Lemes vs. H. Bill; Jack Murdock vs. Jimmie Hurley; Kruger vs. A. S. Remell and Joe Zink vs. Moore.

The doubles matches on next Sunday's schedule are: Remell and Kruger vs. Carlin and Murdock; Hayes and Hurley vs. C. Peterson and C. Bryant; Lemes and B. Childs vs. B. Peterson and F. Childs.

The scheduled matches between the local tennis club and the Island City club of Alameda on Sunday were postponed because of threatening bad weather. The matches will be played next Sunday, unless the regular California interclub schedule starts at that time.

TITLE GAME POSTPONED

In order that skids and fumbles on a wet field would not spoil the classic of the local baseball season, the Oakland Winter league title contest between the Thomas Motors and the Oakland Eagles was postponed Sunday.

Although the weather was balmy, the members of both squads decided that the First street diamond was a little too boggy for comfort. The contest will be played next Sunday at 2 o'clock at First street.

Taylor and Gualdoni will be the Thomas starting battery in next week-end's critical battle. The championship of the Oakland Winter league will be at stake when the two league leaders finally clash.

Carnera Stops Wiggins In Two

ST. LOUIS, March 17.—UP.—Nineteen thousand persons tonight saw Primo Carnera, giant Italian knock out Chuck Wiggins, Indianapolis, after one minute of the second round of a scheduled ten-round bout.

Wiggins, generally regarded as the best opponent Primo has met in this country, but believed "through" for at least a year now, succumbed to a series of rights and lefts to the head.

Chuck jumped out of his corner to start the second and ran into a right cross which knocked him out of the ring.

He crawled back at the count of nine and Primo drove Wiggins thru the ropes again for a count of ten.

Mickey Walker Beats Maloney

CHICAGO, March 17.—UP.—Mickey Walker, world's middleweight champion, knocked out Jim Maloney, Chicago, in the second round of a non-title bout here tonight. Maloney was downed three times before taking the final count.

Seals To Sign Three Rookies

HIGH SECOND IN 3 CORNERED MEET

Richmond Union high school started its track season yesterday by taking second place in a three cornered meet with Berkeley and University high schools at Bushrod park, Oakland. Berkeley was the victor of the meet. Richmond gained a total of 41 points.

Howard Dalton handed a big surprise to the local tracksters by sailing into first place in the 440 yard dash. Dalton has been training in the shorter sprints, but yesterday's showing placed him in the one-two-three class of quarter milers. His time was 57.3 seconds.

Charles Jackson, an old veteran in local high school athletics, captured first place for Richmond in the pole vault. He succeeded in clearing 11 feet, 6 inches. "Moose" Carson, Richmond's husky discus heaver, failed by a narrow margin to take first place. His distance gained a second place for Richmond in this event.

Lawrence Dunleavy had a big day in yesterday's meet capturing second place both in the broad jump and in a javelin throwing event.

Cecil Bowman and Ed Masek starred for Richmond in the sprints. Bowman captured second place in the 100 yard dash, and came third in the 220 yard dash. Masek took second place in the 220 yard dash, and ended fourth in the 100 yard sprint.

Richmond tied for second place in the relay with University high school. Bowman proved a sensation in this event, greatly shortening the distance between himself and the University runner.

Second In Mile

All Cezario, Richmond sophomore, finished in second place in the mile grind, while Beltz surprised the local high school boys by gaining fourth place in this event.

Bill Young captured third place in the half mile run. "Rusty" Lane, Richmond hurdler, ended third in the 220 yard low hurdles.

Wilson Locke yanked the shot 41 feet, 2 inches to give Richmond third place in this event. Locke also made fourth place in the discus.

Snodgrass Sensation

Woodrow Snodgrass proved himself the sensation of the day for the Richmond B track squad. He finished in first place in the low hurdles in the B event. Yesterday was practically the first time that Snodgrass had ever gone over the hurdles in real competition, yet he showed a brand of hurdle-climbing that put many veterans of Berkeley and University in the shade.

Yesterday's meet showed great prospects for the present local high school track season. Richmond Union high school succeeded in gaining about double the points garnered by the locals in last year's meet with Berkeley and University high schools. Judging by the showing made yesterday against Berkeley, which has a far greater choice of first class athletes, Richmond Union high school ought to fare well in its future meets with schools not boasting as high a standard in sports as Berkeley high school.

Al Singer Kayoes Wagner

NEW YORK, March 17.—UP.—Al Singer of New York knocked out Eddie "Kid" Wagner, of Philadelphia, in one minute of the third round of a scheduled ten round bout here tonight.

Twenty-six players of the San Francisco Missions were selected tonight for the trip to San Francisco to meet the Pittsburgh Pirates in a series of three games with the Pittsburgh Pirates starting Tuesday.

COUNCIL VOTES FISH CANNERY ORDINANCE

to secure preliminary permits would be bad. If this ordinance only seeks to regulate fish canneries, then it is another matter. There should be no objection to a fish cannery at Point Molate.

Ralph J. Jergen—There should be some method, either by sanitary control or zoning, to regulate industries, rather than by compelling industries to secure a permit.

Fred D. Parr—I think the proposed ordinance is too far reaching. Some of its provisions should be deleted. This is an industrial city, and we cannot expect to have conditions here the same as in a purely residential city. I think the permit plan would have a disastrous effect on new industries coming here.

George Freudenburg—This ordinance looks more drastic than it really is. Other cities have similar measures, and this city should have one.

V. A. Fenner—Wherever possible, I think the people of a city should be protected from disagreeable odors.

City Attorney T. M. Carlson—Personally, I am opposed to a permit system applying to all industries, but do think there should be control over fish canneries.

After this discussion, councilman W. W. Scott made the motion that it be the consensus of the informal meeting that the provisions relative to other industries be eliminated, and the ordinance be made to apply to the fish cannery business and its by-products.

This was the action later carried out at the regular meeting of the council.

Talk On Africa Given At High

By E. Cozzens

Experiences of 16 years in the Cameroon territory of Africa were described before Richmond Union high school pupils yesterday by Edwin Cozzens, who worked in West Africa as a missionary. Cozzens' talk was illustrated by motion pictures taken by the speaker.

The rapid progress being made by the Africans was described graphically by Cozzens. According to the former missionary, reads are rapidly increasing in the dark continent, while American automobiles are being imported in great quantities.

Cozzens stated that he was able to carry on a telegraphic conversation in Africa with an amateur station in his home town, San Jose, California. His wireless station in Africa was constructed by the natives.

It was also pointed out that disease, the Africans' great enemy, is now being successfully met by native physicians.

In Monterey the boys visited the old buildings including the first customs house, the first brick building and other historic structures. They also took the beautiful 17 mile drive.

Beach sports were enjoyed at Carmel and although a wonderful time was acclaimed by the boys, their chief cause of joy was the fact that they had "met Lindy".

The party returned home Sunday afternoon.

STURGIS QUILTS OAKLAND POST

OAKLAND, March 17.—A few moments before the county grand jury was scheduled to consider an "accusation" against him in the Oakland paving probe, Commissioner Eugene K. Sturgis of Oakland resigned his post on the Oakland city council.

Members of the council, evidently aware of the pending resignation, immediately appointed Dr. Charles R. Fancher, city health officer, to the post.

Sturgis, who was elected a year ago and still had three years of his term before him, stated that he was resigning because his city position interfered with his private income. Sturgis stated in his letter of resignation that his acceptance of legal fees from paving contractors was "common knowledge," and generally known previous to his election.

It was rumored that the county grand jury would not consider any further action against Sturgis. The only penalty which would have been provided under an "accusation," if it had been voted against Sturgis would have been his removal from office.

SUPERVISORS IN BATTLE OVER BUYING

tion requiring the county purchasing agent to ask bids from local merchants before purchasing county supplies; a resolution that brought a more or less heated debate between Long and Morrow.

The motion was not seconded by any member of the board. Long, however, "served notice" on the board that he will introduce the measure again at the April 7th meeting at eleven o'clock.

Morrow Quizzed

Long first presented the resolution at the morning meeting of the board. On suggestion of Chairman W. J. Buchanan and Supervisor R. J. Tremblay, who said he desired to have Morrow appear before the board, action on the measure was laid over until the afternoon meeting.

At that time Morrow appeared, and Long again introduced his resolution. After the motion for adoption had failed, Long served notice that he would again bring the matter before the board on April 7, saying, "I will support it with data showing that the merchants of this county have not had the opportunity to bid on supplies on many occasions."

Morrow declared that he did not object to the resolution, but declared that it would cause delay in the purchase of hospital supplies and perishable merchandise in many cases.

Complaints Told

Morrow told Long that he purchased meat for the county hospital from San Francisco, declaring that he formerly had bought the meat in Martinez but there had been complaints from the hospital that it was not of good quality.

After purchasing in San Francisco for some time, Morrow declared he again bought meat in Martinez and another complaint was lodged.

Long asked by Long whether he had tried to buy meat in Richmond, Pittsburg, or any other county town, Morrow declared he had not.

Seeks "Square Deal"

Long declared that Richmond has a wholesale meat dealer. He declared, however, he was not arguing on behalf of any Richmond merchant but was trying to see that county merchants "got a square deal."

"Mr. Long, I do not believe you have confidence in me as the county purchasing agent," Morrow declared during the questioning.

Long affirmed that he did have confidence, but that he was looking for a "square deal" for county merchants.

Buchanan Objects

Long denied an insinuation made by Buchanan that he had personal interests in presenting the resolution, declaring that he was privileged as a supervisor to bring the matter to the attention of the board.

Buchanan objected to the manner in which Long had brought the resolution before the board, declaring that he could have saved "valuable time" by first having discussed the matter with Morrow in private.

Bills Read

Long read bills before the board sent by San Francisco firms for amounts from $80 to $300, and asked whether Morrow had sought bids from local merchants. Morrow declared that he was maintaining a purchasing price schedule in his office and if county merchants can meet these prices the business is theirs.

"But the fact remains," Long said, "that county businessmen did not bid on these items."

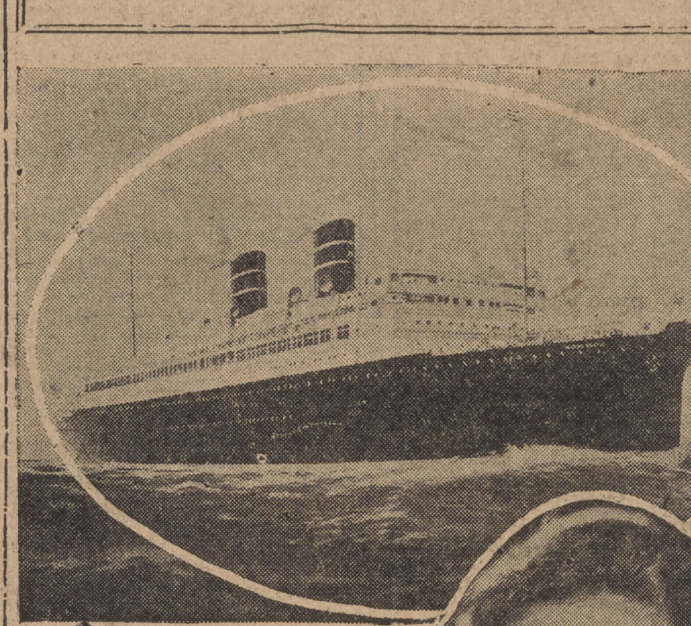

Morrow offered to show that since he became purchasing agent he has obtained lower prices than prevailed at prior times. Long replied that it was not a question of lower prices, but that as to whether county merchants were given an opportunity to bid in an effort to meet these prices.

Resolution Read

Long's resolution was as follows: Be it resolved by the Board of Supervisors of Contra Costa county as follows:

The county purchasing agent be ordered and directed that before buying supplies, goods, wares or merchandise for the county, that he ascertain from Contra Costa county merchants the prices of the same and that prices being equal, said goods, wares, merchandise, or supplies be purchased by the county from Contra Costa county merchants and not elsewhere.

JEWELRY HELD FOR SAVING BABY

Jewels valued at $85 are in the safe at a local bank awaiting the time when its owner, Mrs. Rosie Demetro, a gypsy, pays a sum of $70 for the hire of two nurses who helped save the life of her baby.

Several weeks ago the woman's baby, Annie, was taken to the Hospital Richmond. Doctors had almost abandoned all hope for her recovery.

For five days and nights the nurses were in constant attendance, until the tot had passed the crisis and was well on its way to recovery.

It was then the mother found that she must pay, if she were able for the employment of the two special nurses, Mrs. Fern Warren and Miss Margaret Kelly. The mother said she was unable to pay and the nurses swore to a warrant for her arrest.

Income Indefinite

Taken before Justice of the Peace A. A. Alstrom, the mother declared that she was going to get some money "sometime" from either New York or Seattle, she said she didn't remember which city.

Unless she could pay the money, the woman faced a county jail sentence and the nurses faced the loss of their salary.

Joseph A. Marshall, deputy state labor commissioner was an interested spectator at the trial. "What about your jewels?" he asked the woman.

"They are only worth a few dollars," she replied.

Jewelry Appraised

Upon the suggestion of Clifford C. Anglim, attorney for the defense, the jewelry was appraised by a local jeweler who declared they were worth $85. This sum includes a diamond ring valued at $50.

It was then that Judge Alstrom passed sentence. The woman received a suspended sentence in the county jail and her jewels were held until she could pay the money for the nurses' hire. When the money arrives, the nurses will be paid, the jewels will be turned over to the mother and she will be free.

Judge Alstrom stated yesterday that it was necessary to take this action, otherwise the woman might have left town, leaving her bills behind.

The baby is still at the hospital, recovering rapidly.
